

Invest in our city's future. Teach.

The Indianapolis Teaching Fellows program, an initiative of Indianapolis Public Schools, is calling on outstanding individuals to become teachers in Indianapolis Public Schools and positively impact the academic achievement of its students.

Indianapolis Teaching Fellows looks for a diverse group of successful professionals and recent college graduates who will use their knowledge, experience and records of achievement to improve the lives of students in Indianapolis Public Schools.

A bachelor's degree is required, but no previous experience or coursework in education is necessary to apply. We are looking for individuals interested in teaching math, science, special education or Spanish.
