

Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference

The Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference (SCAC) was founded as the College Athletic Conference (CAC) on September 1, 1962. Centre College in Danville, Ky.; Southwestern at Memphis (Tenn.); The University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn.; and Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va., were the four charter members.

July 11, 1990, marked a turning point for the CAC under the leadership of the Board of Directors chair, Dr. Michael Adams, president of Centre College. New membership requirements were adopted, a decision was made to hire a full-time commissioner for the first time and championships were established for women.

On April 25, 1991, the Board of Directors voted to change the name of the conference to the Southern Collegiate Athletic Conference. This was an effort to identify with the southern region of the United States, and to present a new image. On July 1, 1991, Stephen P. Argo became the first full-time commissioner and began operation of the first established conference office in Atlanta, Georgia.

Now recognized as one of the top NCAA Division III conferences in the nation, the SCAC boasts a membership of 10 institutions from among the finest liberal arts colleges and universities. The SCAC added DePauw University of Greencastle, Ind., and Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology of Terre Haute, Ind., in 1997. Rose-Hulman, formerly competed in the CAC from 1975 until 1988. Rose-Hulman is leaving at the conclusion of the 2005-06 season and will be replaced by Austin College of Sherman, Texas.

The SCAC sponsors championships in 19 sports, nine for men and 10 for women. The sports include baseball, basketball, cross country, field hockey, football, golf, soccer, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, outdoor track and volleyball.

The SCAC remains committed to the NCAA Division III philosophy and always will be recognized as a leader of that special blend of academics and athletics at the intercollegiate level.

A railroad bell, donated by the Norfolk and Western Railway, was adopted as the conference's "President's Trophy" and it is displayed for one year on the campus of the school with the combined men's and women's athletics program that accumulates the highest point total in the all-sports race.

DePauw won the 2000-01 President's Trophy and snapped Trinity's seven-year string. The Tigers won or shared conference titles in men's and women's cross country, football, women's basketball, men's and women's track and field and baseball. Additionally, no DePauw team finished worse than fourth place.

DePauw finished second in President's Trophy standings in each of the other six years of competition in the SCAC.
