The Power of Endowment

Endowments provide donors with a mechanism to perpetually support organizations that have been impactful in their lives. They produce an annual income stream for the institution while protecting the original gift, often referred to as the principal or corpus. Through robust investment strategies and prudent spending policies, endowment values can grow over time, increasing the impact on the student experience at DePauw.

Endowments are also the financial foundation for great colleges and universities. An endowment not only provides annual income for student scholarships, faculty support and general activity of the University, but it also provides an important marker for the prestige and quality of the institution. Endowments signify that alumni and friends of the University appreciate the influence institutions have on students and society. Moreover, they provide an opportunity for donors to shape the institution’s future by directing gifts to areas of personal importance.

The Endowments of DePauw

The strength of any college or university is inherently tied to those who support it and advance its cause. For generations this has been true at DePauw. A few examples are well known. Edward Rector’s gift created the endowment we now know as the Rector Scholarship. The gift from Philip Forbes and Ruth Clark Holton, both Class of 1929, created another such endowment. Those are merely two of hundreds more that have been created by committed alumni and friends.

As of May 2016, more than 915 individual endowments have been created by those who are committed to the core elements of DePauw: ensuring the strength of academic life, providing access to this incredible form of education, preparing students for the world and building a campus on which it can occur.

Many of these existing endowments are listed in the pages that follow.

Larz Whitcomb, an Indianapolis attorney twice elected to the General Assembly, received the Ph.B. degree from DePauw in 1893. The Larz A. Whitcomb Faculty Fellowship was established to stimulate and facilitate projects by a faculty member, which improve teaching, advance scholarly or creative work, enhance the University's academic programs, and realize institutional goals.

Allen A. Wilkinson Faculty Fellowship

Funding for the Wilkinson Faculty Fellowship was provided through a gift from Anna Greer Wilkinson in memory of her husband. Mr. Wilkinson, who died in 1929, was founder of the Allen A. Wilkinson Lumber Company, one of the most widely known lumber companies in the middle west. Neither Mrs. Wilkinson nor her husband were graduates of DePauw. Mr. Wilkinson, born in Ulster County, New York, was educated at Ft. Edward Academy in that state, and Mrs. Wilkinson was educated at Oxford College. Mr. Wilkinson started his business career in Muncie, Indiana, where he became associated with James Boyce, for many years a leading business man and manufacturer in eastern Indiana. In 1889 he formed the Allen A. Wilkinson Lumber Company and continued as its president until his death on May 26, 1929. Under his management the company enjoyed a rapid expansion. Mr. Wilkinson belonged to many fraternal and social organizations and was a member of the Methodist Church. The fund provides support to stimulate and facilitate projects by a faculty member, which improve teaching, advance scholarly or creative work, enhance the University's academic programs, and realize institutional goals.

Robert M. and Carol S. Steele Fund for Student-Faculty Collaborative Research in Ethics and Sustainability

The Robert M. and Carol S. Steele Fund was established with a gift from Neal B. Abraham to honor Class of 1969 alumnus Robert McKay (Bob) Steele for his career-long dedication to journalism ethics and his service to DePauw. Bob Steele spent nearly two decades on the faculty of The Poynter Institute for Media Studies before returning to DePauw in 2008 as the Eugene S. Pulliam Distinguished Professor of Journalism. From 2009 until 2014, Bob Steele served as the director of the Janet Prindle Institute for Ethics. Carol S. Steele joined DePauw’s administration in 2008 as associate dean of academic affairs and was appointed DePauw’s first director of sustainability. Neal B. Abraham served as executive vice president, vice president for academic affairs and dean of the faculty at DePauw from 1998 until 2009. He and spouse, Donna Wiley, were actively dedicated to many Greencastle and Putnam County initiatives and organizations during their time as local residents. Income from the fund supports opportunities for faculty and students to work together on research and scholarly projects related to issues in and topics of ethics and/or sustainability.

Paul R. and Katharyn G. Sweet Endowed Fund for International Study

The fund was established by William Sweet and his sister, Sarah L. Rosen, in memory of their parents, Paul R. Sweet ’29 and Katharyn G. Sweet. Grants will be provided to students needing financial assistance with first preference for those who have never been outside the USA or are first generation college students.

The Steven Trulaske Language Intensive and Study Abroad Program

This Fund was established by Steven L. Trulaske. Mr. Trulaske is a 1979 DePauw alumnus. The Steven Trulaske Language Intensive and Study Abroad Program will underwrite the cost of student participation in a selected summer intensive language program followed by accompanying off-campus travel opportunity in another country.

The Walter-Hadidi Media Internship Fund

The fund was established with a gift from Michelle Walter Hadidi, Class of 1998. Income from the fund will provide support for students participating in approved off-campus media internships for a semester, Winter Term or summer that require financial assistance because the host compensation does not meet the expenses of travel, living and a stipend for the duration of the internship. Preference will be given to students with approved internships through the Media Fellows program, with priority on placements in advertising or marketing communications.

Westerman Fellowship for Community Outreach

The Westerman Fellowship for Community Outreach fund is made possible by gifts from the Samuel L. Westerman Foundation. Income from the fund provides annual stipends to one or more students to undertake community service projects or serving as DePauw Community Service coordinators, known as the "Westerman Fellows."

Samuel L. Westerman Winter Term in Service Fund

This fund was established with gifts from the Samuel L. Westerman Foundation. Income from the fund provides support for scholarships for students who would not otherwise be able to participate in the activities of Winter Term in Service.

Please direct questions or comments about any of these funds to Dawna Wilson ’82, Director of Stewardship at 765.658.4213 or dwwilson@depauw.edu.
Douglas B. White Endowed Memorial Fund

The fund was established in memory of Douglas B. White '94 by his parents, Roger and Mary Ann White. A brief history of the Douglas B. White Memorial Travel Fund begins with Doug White and Matt Tyler’s proposed travel in New Zealand during Winter Term 1993. They planned to trek through New Zealand’s natural parks and as Doug put it, "I will be comparing and contrasting basic attitudes of the New Zealand people towards the environment, environmental problems, restrictions etc. to those in the U.S. This will be accomplished through talking to Park Rangers, government officials and ordinary citizens of New Zealand." Dr. Preston Adams, DePauw Professor of Botany, acted as faculty sponsor for the trip which by all accounts was a great success. Tragically, Doug White lost his life in a car accident the following summer in Australia. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger A. White, wish to commemorate the love Doug had for the Pacific area and therefore they endowed the Douglas B. White Memorial Travel Fund to provide DePauw students with an opportunity to see the world from a different perspective. Income from the fund provides support for two or more students studying abroad with first preference given to students planning to travel and study in a Pacific Rim country and second preference given to students traveling to Africa and India. The intent of the geographic restriction is that students have an opportunity and be encouraged to get off the beaten path and live and study in a part of the world that does not reflect our western culture.

Ypma Endowed Scholarship Fund to Support Study Abroad

The fund was established with a gift from Dr. Eleanor Ypma, registrar emerita of DePauw University as a memorial to her husband Edward G. Ypma, DePauw professor emeritus of psychology. Professor Ypma served as resident director for DePauw-related international programs in Tokyo, Japan; Athens, Greece; and Frieberg, Germany. Income from the fund provides support for a student in good standing with financial need which would otherwise prevent him or her from participating in study abroad. In awarding the scholarship, preference should be given to the following: 1) students planning to study abroad for one semester or longer, 2) students with a stated desire to study in an Asian country, and 3) students who are of color.

Please direct questions or comments about any of these funds to Dawna Wilson ’82, Director of Stewardship at 765.658.4213 or dwwilson@depauw.edu.
Alford Fund For Moral Reflection and Development

The fund was established with a gift from John W. Alford, Class of 1935. Income from the fund provides support to further the development of character in the DePauw student body; funding projects which foster an emphasis on the Christian religious traits held jointly by the United Methodist Church and DePauw University.

Aline Hower Music Fund

The fund was established with a gift from the estate of Aline Hower '26. The gift is to be used toward the construction of a music building or to provide for the study and improvement of church music, but not for the payment of teacher salaries in connection with such studies. If the Board of Trustees determines that the gift cannot be used to the best advantage as previously described, then all or any balance of the gift may be used for the improvement of the School of Music.

The DePauw Alumni Fellows Program Fund

The DePauw Alumni Fellows program was established with a gift from anonymous donors. Income from the endowment supports career preparation experiences and programs through the Kathryn F. Hubbard Center for Student Engagement at DePauw University. The Fund will support programs and activities which help students design a plan that leads to successful job placement and career trajectory following graduation.

Selections of speakers and topics will be made by the staff of the Department of Zoology and they should be so made as to give the students and faculty an expression of the current trends of research and the nature, accomplishments and concepts of zoologic and biomedical science. Topics should be selected to represent the broad sweep of zoology and thus emphasize the interdisciplinary character of current zoologic and biomedical exploration. At least one lecture each year is to be designated the "C.P. Hickman Memorial Lecture in Zoology" and so announced in the advertising for the lecture. Invited speakers will be research investigators, authors, teachers, or scientific philosophers of distinction who will be expected to present at least one lecture or seminar to the students and faculty. They might also be asked to meet informally with students and faculty to inform them of developments in their discipline and in their work and thought.
Horizon Lectures

The fund was established in 1909 with a gift from Dr. Guy M. Walker, Class of 1890. The income from the fund shall be used every year to secure a series of lectures from one of our best specialists in political science or history, these lectures to be open to all the students of DePauw University and if possible, to consist of not less than five lectures delivered on consecutive days at such hour that almost every student in the University will be able to attend. These lectures can best be described by the word "horizon," and are to be called "The Horizon Lectures," for the donor wanted the subjects selected and the lectures prepared with the view of giving the hearing students the widest possible mental horizon, and hoped that each series of lectures would succeed in fixing a new point in the mental horizon of the students who hear them, so far beyond the range of his previous mental vision in that direction that when he turns his attention to other subjects his vision there, too, will be carried far beyond anything that he has seen before.

Harry D. Jacobs, Jr. Counselor in Broadcast Journalism Endowed Fund

The fund was established with gift from the family and friends of Harry D. Jacobs, Jr., Class of 1951. Income from the fund is used to attract distinguished broadcast journalists who can contribute to the serious consideration of radio and television in our society to teach and advise students at DePauw for a period of time.

David and Anne Prindle Johnson Fund for Ethics Engagement

The fund was established by David Johnson ’53 and Anne Prindle Johnson ’54. The Johnsons believe the study of ethics is extremely important in today’s world and that DePauw students garner a great advantage in having this world class Institute for Ethics on campus. Income from the Fund provides support to further ethics education at DePauw through support of the Prindle Institute’s outreach programs and activities.

Anne Prindle Johnson and David S. Johnson Speaker Fund at the Janet Prindle Institute for Ethics

The fund was established with a gift from Anne Prindle Johnson ’54 and David S. Johnson ’53. Income from the fund will underwrite a speakers series to address the myriad ethical issues facing our society as a part of the programming at the Janet Prindle Institute for Ethics.

Please direct questions or comments about any of these funds to Dawna Wilson ’82, Director of Stewardship at 765.658.4213 or dwwilson@depauw.edu.
Percy L. Julian Memorial Lectureship

This fund was established by the late Anna Julian in memory of her distinguished husband, Dr. Percy L. Julian, scientist, civil rights activist, businessman, as well as an alumnus, trustee, and benefactor of DePauw University. Income from the fund, supported through the Percy L. Julian Memorial Chemistry Trust Fund, brings an outstanding scientist or scholar to DePauw each year either to deliver a major address or review developments in the field of chemistry.

James and Marilou Kelly Writers Series

The James and Marilou Kelly Writers Series was established in 1998 with gifts from Marilou Morrell Kelly, Class of 1955, and her husband, James J. Kelly. Generous gifts from Professor Emeritus of English J. David Field provide additional support. Income from the fund provides resources to conduct an annual series which features outstanding writers.

Gilbert S. Lance Fund for the Performing Arts

The fund was established in 1975 by Mrs. Carlotta Cooper Lance of Kenosha, Wisconsin, in memory of her husband, Gilbert S. Lance. Mrs. Lance is a 1917 graduate of DePauw University and her husband served on the Board of Trustees at DePauw. Income from the fund provides support to underwrite the costs of bringing to campus persons or groups of great distinction who will perform in the Performing Arts Center.

Mitchell Stewart Marble Lectureship

The fund was established in 1953 with a bequest from the Reverend Mitchell Stewart Marble. Dr. Marble was a Methodist minister of the Northwest Indiana Conference and 1883 graduate of DePauw. He lived to be more than 96 years of age. As a student at DePauw, he was influenced to enter the ministry under the inspiration of a guest speaker. It was his intention in setting up this Trust to use his life savings so that other students might be influenced to enter fields with opportunities for doing good. Income from the fund shall be used by the faculty of the University for annual or bi-annual lectures. The faculty shall designate the general themes of such lectures and the persons who shall deliver them, providing only, that such persons shall be recognized authorities of profound scholarship in the themes so determined, and shall first agree to meet the conditions hereinafter stated regarding publication. The themes shall have a wide range, including science as applied to agriculture and other forms of industry, philosophy, literature, art, history, sociology, journalism, political economy, education and religion, and in selecting such themes, special regard shall be given to the state of the country and the general trend of thought throughout the world.
Delta Gamma Foundation Dorothy Garrett Martin Lectureship in Values and Ethics

The fund was established by the Delta Gamma International fraternity. Income from the fund will provide resources to allow the University to host speakers who are qualified, through professional or personal experience, to lecture on the subject ethics, in a wide variety of fields.

John P. McNaughton Memorial Lectureship

The fund was established in 1970 by family and friends in memory of Mr. and Mrs. John P. McNaughton, both graduates of the DePauw Class of 1942. Mr. McNaughton served in the United States Navy during World War II, and earned a degree from the Harvard University School of Law, where he later taught. McNaughton held the position of Assistant Secretary of Defense for International Security Affairs and had just been appointed Secretary of the Navy when he, his wife and one son were killed in a tragic airplane crash on July 19, 1967. The income from the fund provides the means by which the University may invite to the campus a nationally prominent man or woman for a major public address. The University may award the McNaughton Medal for Meritorious Public Service to the visiting lecturer.

Jack McWethy Mentorship Fund

The fund was established with a gift from Robert M. Steele '69, and Carol S. Steele, in memory of their friend and Bob's classmate, John F. "Jack" McWethy. The fund supports visits to DePauw University by outstanding journalists and media leaders who exhibit great professionalism and a passion for engaging students. Preference may be given to those who would come to campus for extended visits in a similar manner to the Kilgore Counselors program.

Mendenhall Lectureship Endowed Fund

The fund was established in 1905 by Reverend Doctor Marmaduke H. Mendenhall, a past trustee of DePauw University. Income from the fund supports DePauw's Mendenhall Lectures, which were inaugurated in 1913. Income from the fund enables the University to bring to campus "persons of high and wide repute, of broad and varied scholarship" to address issues related to the academic dialogue concerning Christianity. The endowment has allowed DePauw to bring theological and religious scholars of international repute to campus for nearly a century.

Ferid and Carol Leopold Murad Science Lecture Endowment

The Murad Science Lecture Fund was established by Ferid Murad and Carol Leopold Murad, 1958 DePauw alumni. Income from the fund shall be used to support guest lecturers in the areas of biology and/or chemistry.
