

MANAGEMENT FELLOWS

Experiential Learning + Networking + Leadership = Success

Established in 1980, the Management Fellows Program connects students interested in business and management with the best of a liberal arts education and real-world experiences. Management fellows graduates have become successful leaders at some of the world's top public, private and nonprofit enterprises.

HONORS BUSINESS PROGRAM OVERVIEW

The Management Fellows Program integrates the study of business and entrepreneurship with the liberal arts education. It includes classes in economics, accounting, ethics and statistics; lectures by business leaders from across the country; and a full-time, paid, semester-long internship. Students may major in any discipline offered at DePauw.

INTERNSHIPS

The Management Fellows Program includes a full-time, paid, semester-long, credit-bearing business internship in the public, private or nonprofit sector. More than 1,000 management fellows have successfully completed internships in a wide variety of companies across the United States and around the world, gaining valuable experience in finance, consulting, sales and marketing, strategic planning, investment banking and more.

COURSE CURRICULUM

In addition to the coursework they complete as part of their major, management fellows receive training in topics critical to success in the global economy. Fellows begin by building foundational knowledge in economics, finance and accounting, and then they learn about the ethical and cultural challenges of doing business. Finally, management fellows put these skills to use during off-campus, semester-long paid internships and an innovative senior seminar. Selected courses from our core curriculum are listed below:

BUSINESS FUNDAMENTALS

- » Introduction to Economics
- » Business and the Liberal Arts
- » Financial Accounting
- » Statistics for Economics and Management
- » Managerial Accounting or Corporate Finance
- » Ethics and Business

APPLIED BUSINESS EXPERIENCE

- » Supervised Internship
- » Business Writing
- » Management Fellows Capstone: includes classes with industry professionals from allied partners, e.g., Bain and Co., Eli Lilly and Co., General Mills, Salesforce.
