FERID MURAD MEDAL

The Ferid Murad Medal recognizes the senior who has had the most significant scholarly and/or artistic achievements during his or her time at DePauw. The award is named after DePauw graduate and Nobel laureate Dr. Ferid Murad, class of 1958. In 1998, Dr. Murad received the Nobel Prize in Medicine for his discovery of the role of nitric oxide in the cardiovascular system, which led to changes in treatment following a heart attack.

Ferid Murad Medal Recipient Luka Ignac

Luka Ignac is an international student from Croatia with majors in Political Science and French, and a minor in Peace and Conflict Studies. In addition to being a staple on Dean's List, Luka is a Vera Scholar, a Presidential Ambassador, and a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Sigma Alpha. He is also a recipient of both the Richard Bunch Award for Best Junior in Political Science and the Ambassador Viron P. Vaky Award for Inter-American Relations. In addition, Luka is an alumnus of Clinton Global University, Benjamin Franklin Transatlantic Fellowship, One Young World Summit, and the Global-In-Fellowship. During his time at DePauw, Luka has taken on numerous roles. As a freshman, he founded and served as the president of DePauw Model United Nations Club, leading the first DePauw delegation to American Model UN. During his second year, Luka became an intern for the Prindle Institute for Ethics. Alongside interning, Luka served as the president of the DePauw chapter of European Horizons (EuH), a transatlantic youth think-tank based at Yale University. As a member of EuH, Luka coauthored several policy papers addressing variety of policy challenges such as cybersecurity and cybercrime, consequences of Brexit for transatlantic relations, and operationalization of European Global Strategy. He presented his work during the Digital Economy Youth Summit at College of Europe, the European Student Conference at Yale University, and the European Horizons Midwest Conference. His policy paper titled European Global Strategy - How to operationalize in the context of Europe's neighborhood was published in the Review of Transatlantic Affairs. Luka has complimented his study of transatlantic cooperation as a political affairs intern at the Embassy of the Republic of Croatia in the USA. Witnessing EU cooperation motivated him to study abroad in Belgium in the fall of 2018. During his time in Brussels, Luka spearheaded a comparative research on the security policies of the EU and North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). In addition, Luka has also worked for the Center for comparative and political science (CESPOL) at the Université Catholique de Louvain-La-Neuve. At CESPOL, Luka worked as a research assistant on a project exploring how policies shape democratic linkages in Western democracies. In the spring of junior year, Luka continued his exploration of transatlantic security relationship through an independent study with Professor Smita Rahman. His work analyzed the determinants of the EU-NATO transatlantic security relationship and showed that the EU-NATO cooperation is dependent on their mutual ability to recognize value and operational compatibility. Luka devoted his senior year to examining NATO's resilience to transatlantic crises. Using International Relations theory, he argued that crises provide NATO with 'ontological security', continuously encouraging its adaptation. He was invited to present his findings at the 78th Midwest Political Science Association conference. Luka's continued commitment towards becoming informed and active participant in the transatlantic dialogue resulted in an invitation to conduct a policy workshop on the EU-mediated dialogue during the 2019 European Conference at Harvard Kennedy School and chair a panel on the Future of Transatlantic Relationship during the 2020 Benjamin Franklin Transatlantic Fellowship Summit in Berlin. Luka has also held leadership positions as a Lead Intern at the Prindle Institute, mentor at Benjamin Franklin Transatlantic Fellowship, project manager for the Global-In-Network, a Teacher's Assistant for French, and as a language tutor during DePauw's summer immersion program in France. In his last semester at DePauw, Luka devised and organized the bringing of the Anne Frank Exhibit from the Anne Frank House in Amsterdam to the Prindle Institute in order to ensure that the lessons of the Holocaust are never forgotten. In the fall of 2020, Luka will attend Georgetown University's Master of German and European Affairs program as one of five transformational global public service leaders on a prestigious McHenry Fellowship.

WALKER CUP

The Walker Cup is awarded each year to the graduating senior who has done the most for DePauw University during his or her college career. The prize was established in 1926 by a gift from Guy Morrison Walker, Class of 1890, a successful businessman and presidential advisor. Traditionally, the Walker Cup recipient speaks at commencement.

Walker Cup Recipient Brittany Davis

The founder of the student organization "S.o.C.i.S.," also known as Students of Color in STEM, Brittany Davis initiated efforts addressing the lack of underrepresented identities within STEM fields at DePauw and elsewhere. This Science Research Fellow and an Information Technology Associate (ITAP) worked with a psychological research team conducting focus group research exploring the experiences of international students, domestic students of color, and first generation students in science and math classes – work used in campus improvements to ensure STEM inclusivity. A neuroscience and global health double major on a pre-medical science track, with minors in Spanish, biology and chemistry, Brittany is a Fund II Foundation STEM Scholar and a Justin and Darriane Christian Technology Scholar through the United Negro College Fund. Ms. Davis plans to pursue an M.D.-Ph.D. program so she might serve globally as a medical research physician.
